

Service oriented architecture decomposes an application into independently deployable services that communicate over a network. Each service owns its data and exposes a contract. This paragraph exists purely so the extractor has real text to pull out of the page. Service oriented architecture decomposes an application into independently deployable services that communicate over a network. Each service owns its data and exposes a contract. This paragraph exists purely so the extractor has real text to pull out of the page. Service oriented architecture decomposes an application into independently deployable services that communicate over a network. Each service owns its data and exposes a contract. This paragraph exists purely so the extractor has real text to pull out of the page. Service oriented architecture decomposes an application into independently deployable services that communicate over a network. Each service owns its data and exposes a contract. This paragraph exists purely so the extractor has real text to pull out of the page.

Figure 1: request flow

